FOREWORD

HON. JOHN P. ROBARTS, Q.C., LL.D.,

Prime Minister of Ontario

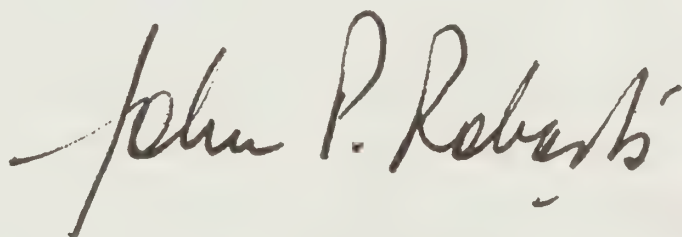

I welcome the publication of the checklist of Ontario Government publications, 1901-1955.

Historians, students of government and many others will find this book both interesting and useful. Covering more than the first half of the twentieth century, it lists documents issued during a period of tremendous growth in population, industry, and public service. Many of the early publications are quite rare. Their location in one or more libraries will make them available to all who would use them.

The Ontario Library Association, and its Government Publications Committee, are to be congratulated for having initiated this project. The Legislature of Ontario, which made funds available, and officials of the Department of Education and of other departments of government who co-operated in the project deserve our appreciation.

To Miss Hazel I. MacTaggart, B.A., we owe our thanks for accomplishing what must have been a difficult task and for achieving a useful and valuable result. We should also mention the contribution of the Board of the Toronto Public Library, which freed Miss MacTaggart from her regular duties in order to permit her to devote her attention to this project.

University and other reference libraries, in Ontario and elsewhere, will find this a very worthwhile addition to their collections.

FOREWORD

HILDA M. BROOKE,

President, Ontario Library Association

Government documents form one of the most extensive and valuable sources of information available to us. Much important reference material is to be found in the reports, surveys, bulletins, and other publications issued by the various departments of our Provincial Government. These publications are primary sources for historical research and in many fields of human knowledge no extended reference work can be done without them.

Unfortunately government documents are perhaps the most difficult reference materials to locate and procure. Re-organization of departments, changes in publication policy, format, and distribution methods, all contribute to the problem of collecting them on any systematic basis. Frequently the issuing department fails to keep a complete file of its own publications, and few libraries can be sure that their collections are complete.

This checklist of Ontario Government publications, 1901–1955, provides a much needed guide to the publications issued by the Province of Ontario during this period. It will prove of immense value to librarians, researchers, and historians, and will furnish an important historical record of the activities of the Government of Ontario for these years.

As President of the Ontario Library Association it is my privilege to express our appreciation to Miss MacTaggart for her untiring and enthusiastic work in the years since 1957 when this project was initiated. The difficulties encountered by Miss MacTaggart in compiling this bibliography will be appreciated by anyone who has worked with government documents. Publication could not have been possible without the co-operation and assistance of many individuals and while it is not possible to name all those deserving of thanks, the Association acknowledges with gratitude its debt to those who served on the Government Publications Committee during the time that work on the checklist was in progress. We are also fully aware of our debt to the Government of Ontario which provided funds for the preparation of the checklist and accepted responsibility for its publication, as well as to the Toronto Public Library Board which generously released Miss MacTaggart from her duties with them so that she might work on this project from time to time.

Now that this undertaking has reached a successful conclusion, it is the earnest hope of the Ontario Library Association that work may go forward on a checklist for the period from 1867 to 1900, and that further plans may be made to cover the years from 1956 to the present.

PREFACE

This checklist records the publications of departments, boards, and other publishing organizations of the Government of the Province of Ontario during the period from 1901 to 1955. The closing date, 1955, was chosen because by that time provincial publications were being included in Canadiana (National Library of Canada). The compilation was begun some years ago by Mr. Robert M. Hamilton, formerly Assistant Librarian, Library of Parliament, Ottawa, who made the information he had collected available to the present compiler. More recently the project was taken up by the Government Publications Committee of the Ontario Library Association, which, under the chairmanship of Miss Beverly Sandover-Sly, secured the encouragement and support of Dr. J. G. Althouse, Chief Director of Education for Ontario, and Mr. Angus Mowat, Director of Public Library Service. In December 1957, in order to find what had been published, visits to government offices and the larger libraries in the Province were begun. Grateful acknowledgment is made of the help and co-operation given by government officials and librarians, particularly by the staff of the Legislative Library, Toronto, while materials were being consulted.

LOCATION. For the most part, only publications that were available for examination are included. The union catalogues in the National Library of Canada, Ottawa, and in the Library of Congress, Washington, have been invaluable aids for location. As far as possible, at the end of the entry for each title, there is given a location symbol representing one library where it has been found. The symbols given for Canadian libraries are those used by the National Library of Canada. If a publication is not in a library collection, indication is made of the government office where it has been seen. For serial publications, there may be more than one location. In a few instances, reference has been made to a printed catalogue or to the union catalogue in the National Library of Canada.

ARRANGEMENT. Following a list of legislative and executive publications, the material is arranged by issuing body. Reports are given first, followed by other serial publications. Separate publications are put under the heading Special publications, usually in alphabetical order. However, strict alphabetical arrangement has not been adhered to, if there is some advantage in arranging by date or by key word.

SERIAL PUBLICATIONS. For serial publications the date of the first issue and, if publication has ceased, the date of the last issue are given after the title. The dates of reports published during the period 1901 to 1955 have been itemized in full. In the case of reports which began publication shortly before 1901, a complete listing is frequently given. In recording dates, a diagonal line between two dates indicates a year that is not a calendar year. A hyphen between two dates is used when the report covers two or more years.

CHANGES IN ORGANIZATION. Wherever possible, a brief account has been given of changes in organization or name and of the main functions of the various agencies. This information has been taken from Author entries for provincial government publications, published as an appendix to Canadiana (National Library of Canada); Ontario government departments, an outline history of a selected group of publishing bodies, by Marget H. C. Meikleham, 1940; Report of the Committee on the Organization of Government in Ontario, 1959; Directory and guide to services of Ontario Government; the Statutes and annual reports.

TERMINOLOGY. "Reissued" has been used to denote a publication with a new imprint date. It may be a new edition or a reprint. If it is known to be a reprint, the term "reprinted" has been given. "Processed" is the term used to describe forms of reproduction other than ordinary printing. If the copy is known to be typewritten, "typewritten" has usually been given. "Illus.," as a general rule, covers all forms of illustrations, but occasionally the type has been specified, as, for example, "maps."

MATERIAL OMITTED. Publications omitted include maps, posters, items that appear to relate to internal administration, bills, and separate printings of acts. However, if an act is published with related matter, it has been listed. Extracts reprinted from government publications have not been included, unless they are of some particular interest; neither have reprints of articles written by government officials and appearing in non-government publications, unless they have the imprint of a department. Publications of provincially supported educational institutions have been omitted, except when they have an official imprint.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS. In the compilation of this work it has been an advantage to have had at hand the collections and facilities of the Central Library of the Toronto Public Library system. Sincere thanks are due the Toronto Public Library Board for release from regular duties at various periods to prepare the list, and Mr. Henry C. Campbell, Chief Librarian, and Miss Dorothy Dingle, formerly Head of the Cataloguing Department, for the arrangements that were made. Valuable advice was received from Miss Florence B. Murray, Associate Professor of Library Science, University of Toronto; Miss Dorothy Gladman, Head of the General Reference Section, Central Library, Toronto; Mr. Brian Land, Assistant Chief Librarian, University of Toronto, and many others. The record of reports in the Sessional papers for the period 1920 to 1948 was taken from a cumulated list of their contents, compiled by Mrs. Shirley Edgar, Mills Memorial Library, McMaster University, in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of Master of Arts in Library Science, University of Michigan. The copy for this checklist was put in typewritten form by Mrs. Irene Rozenbergs and Mrs. Elizabete Vidins. The utmost co-operation and support was received from the librarians who were members of the Government Publications Committee of the Ontario Library Association.

INTRODUCTION

The Government of the Province of Ontario is organized under the British North America Act of 1867. The Act provides for a Lieutenant-Governor, an Executive Council, and a uni-cameral legislature, the Legislative Assembly.

The Lieutenant-Governor, who is appointed by the Governor-General in Council, is the representative of the Crown. He exercises executive authority, but acts only on the advice of the Executive Council.

The Executive Council is a cabinet of ministers selected from the political party in power and appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor on the recommendation of the Prime Minister of the Province. A cabinet minister is usually in charge of one of the departments which carry on the administrative work of the government, but occasionally there are ministers without portfolios.

The Legislative Assembly consists of ninety-eight members elected by popular vote, and has full authority to make laws within its jurisdiction.* Under the British North America Act all subject-matters of legislation are divided between the Parliament of Canada and the provincial legislatures. The exclusive powers of the latter cover matters of purely provincial concern, and include direct taxation for provincial purposes, management and sale of public lands, municipal institutions, highways and local works, hospitals and other charitable institutions, prisons and reformatories, property and civil rights. Education is completely under the authority of the provinces, but agriculture and immigration may be dealt with concurrently by the Dominion and the provinces.

*This number was changed in 1963 to one hundred and eight.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

The Department of Agriculture, through its various branches, provides services in production methods, farm management, marketing, and other phases of agriculture, with a view to improving the quality and quantity of agricultural products, and to promoting the prosperity and welfare of the farming community. In addition, it operates educational and research institutions in the field of agriculture. In 1955 they were:

Ontario Agricultural College and Experimental Farm, Guelph.

Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph.

Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

Kemptville Agricultural School, Kemptville.

Western Ontario Agricultural School and Experimental Farm, Ridgetown.

Horticultural Experiment Station, Vineland.

Demonstration Farm, New Liskeard.

AGRICULTURAL REPRESENTATIVE BRANCH

The first district representatives were appointed in 1907 in six Ontario counties. They were supported jointly by the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Education. In the years following, appointments were made in the other counties and the districts. In 1912 the Department of Agriculture assumed full responsibility for the district representatives and in 1918 the name was changed to Agricultural Representative. In 1920 the Agricultural Representative Branch was established. Through direct contact with farm organizations and individual farmers the agricultural representatives supply up-to-date information concerning developments in production methods and farm management resulting from agricultural research. Offices are maintained in each county and district of the Province.

COLONIZATION AND IMMIGRATION BRANCH

In 1899 a Bureau of Colonization was created in the Department of Crown Lands. It was organized and administered in connection with the Bureau of Forestry. Its purpose was to promote and direct land settlement, and to bring in to Ontario farm labourers and domestic servants. In 1905 it was transferred to the Department of Agriculture, and from 1910 it was called the Colonization and Immigration Branch. In 1916 it was transferred to the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines, and in 1920 back to the Department of Agriculture, where it was discontinued in 1934.

DAIRY BRANCH

The Dairy Branch was organized to inspect and to provide instruction to creameries and cheese factories. The work of instruction was originally carried on by the dairymen's associations. In 1902 three instructors were employed by the Department of Agriculture and in 1907 all dairy instruction was taken over by the Department. In 1906 legislation was passed, requiring that all cheese factories and creameries be kept in a sanitary condition, and providing for the appointment of inspectors, on the recommendation of the Minister of Agriculture, with power to enforce the law. These inspectors and the dairy instructors worked in conjunction with the Institutes Branch until 1925, when the Dairy Branch became a separate branch, under a Director of Dairying.

Serials:

INSTITUTES BRANCH

In 1894 a Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes was appointed to supervise and organize farmers' institutes "for the purpose of disseminating information in regard to agriculture." Grants were made to the institutes and meetings were arranged by districts under the direction of the Superintendent. The office of the Superintendent developed into the Farmers' Institutes Branch, which directed the farmers' institutes, women's institutes, farmers' clubs (which were more local than the farmers' institutes), short courses, dairy schools and other dairy work. During the fiscal year 1911/12 the Branch became known as the Institutes Branch. Farmers' institutes were discontinued by 1920 and the work of the Branch came to be limited to direction of women's institutes. It became known as the Women's Institutes Branch.

MILK CONTROL BOARD OF ONTARIO

The Milk Control Board of Ontario was established in 1934 (24 Geo. V, chap. 30) to control and regulate the fluid milk industry. This Board made its annual report to the Minister of Agriculture.

The Milk industry act, passed in 1954, consolidated the provisions of various acts relating to the dairy industry into one act. The Milk Control Board of Ontario was continued to regulate the marketing of fluid milk, and a new board, the Milk Products Board of Ontario, was established to regulate the production and manufacture of milk products.

ONTARIO PROVINCIAL POLICE

The Ontario Provincial Police Force was organized in 1909. It is responsible for policing any part of Ontario where a municipal police force is not maintained. The provincial force also maintains a traffic patrol on the King's highways, and a criminal investigation branch which is used to assist municipal police forces. The administration of the force is under a Commissioner of Police for Ontario.

REGISTRAR OF REGULATIONS

The Registrar of Regulations was first appointed in 1944. Under the Regulations act, he is responsible for the numbering and indexing of all regulations and for their publication. Every regulation is filed in duplicate with the Registrar and takes effect on the day upon which it is filed. Within one month of the filing, every regulation is published in the Ontario gazette. The Registrar is also responsible for the preparation and publication of regulations in a consolidated form.

Serials:

Regulations. July 1944–

From July 1944 regulations have been published regularly in the Ontario gazette under the heading: Publications under the Regulations act. They are printed so that they can be removed and bound separately, and have their own paging as well as that of the gazette.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

The Department of Education is responsible for promoting the development of educational facilities within the Province. It shares with local educational authorities the responsibility for the planning and control of both the educational programmes and the administration of all types of schools (other than universities), which are in whole or in part supported by public funds. Its activities include the training and certification of teachers, the framing of courses of study, the authorization of text-books, and the payment of grants to local school boards. It also provides advice and assistance to public library boards and public libraries throughout the Province.

The following educational institutions were operated by the Department in 1955:

Lakehead Technical Institute, Port Arthur.

Ontario School for the Blind, Brantford.

Ontario School for the Deaf, Belleville.

Provincial Institute of Mining, Haileybury.

Provincial Institute of Textiles, Hamilton.

Provincial Institute of Trades, Toronto.

Ryerson Institute of Technology, Toronto.

Teachers' colleges for the training of elementary school teachers (known as Normal schools to 1952) in Hamilton, London, North Bay, Ottawa, Peterborough, Stratford, Toronto, and the University of Ottawa.

LEGISLATIVE LIBRARY

The Legislative Library of Ontario was established in 1867 to provide library service for the members of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario. It was originally under the control of the Speaker of the House, assisted by a committee of the members chosen at each session of the Assembly. By an Order-in-Council dated May 13, 1921, the Library was put under the Department of Education for purposes of administration. The last Library Committee of the House was appointed in 1946.

In 1922 the Legislative Library absorbed the library of the Department of Education and, since that time, has served the teachers of the Province. It is also open to members of the Civil Service.

PROVINCIAL MUSEUM

An act passed in 1853 provided an annual grant for the purchase of books and objects for a library and museum to be housed in the Normal School Buildings, Toronto, the money to be expended by the Chief Superintendent of Education. Dr. Egerton Ryerson, who held this office for some years, was mainly instrumental in establishing the museum and in acquiring its first materials. In 1897 the archaeological collection housed in the Canadian Institute building was transferred to it. The Museum continued until 1933 when the contents were distributed among several institutions, including the Provincial Archives, the Royal Ontario Museum, the Ontario College of Art, and the Toronto Art Gallery.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES BRANCH

The Public Libraries Branch provides advice, direction and assistance to public library boards and libraries throughout the Province. It inspects libraries, reviews library reports, and recommends the amounts of the provincial grants to libraries.

In addition, it operates a professional library for teachers and a travelling library service through which periodic supplies of books are loaned to rural schools, and to community groups that lack library service.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION BRANCH

The Industrial education act of 1911 lent stimulus to the movement for technical education and a Director of Industrial and Technical Education was appointed to supervise its development in Ontario. In 1923 the title of the office was changed to Director of Technical Education and in 1933 to Director of Vocational Education. The act of 1911 was replaced in 1921 by the Vocational education act, which, in turn, was superseded by the Vocational education act of 1930. During the school year 1935/36 vocational education became part of the secondary education administration.

GAME AND FISHERIES DEPARTMENT

In 1892 a Board of Game and Fish Commissioners was established (55 Vict., chap. 58) to take measures for securing the enforcement of the laws for the protection of game, and of the laws for the preservation, propagation and protection of fish, and to collect information regarding these matters. But due to the dispute between the Dominion and Ontario governments in the matter of the fisheries, the Board took care of game legislation only. In 1900 its name was changed to Board of Game Commissioners, and in 1905 it was put under the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Works.

In 1898, by a decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council of Great Britain, the fisheries of Ontario were declared to be the property of the Province. A separate Fisheries Branch or Department was then organized in 1899, under a Commissioner; from 1899 to 1902 it was attached to the Attorney-General's Department, and from 1903 to 1906 to the Department of Public Works.

In 1907 a Game and Fisheries Branch was established to take over the work of the Board of Game Commissioners and the Department of Fisheries. In 1916 the Branch became a Department. It was under the authority of the Minister of Public Works, 1907–1919; the Minister of Mines, 1920–1931; the Provincial Secretary, 1932–1941; the Attorney General, 1941/42; and the Provincial Secretary, 1942–1946. In 1946 it was incorporated into the Department of Lands and Forests as its Division of Fish and Wildlife.

An Experimental Fur Farm was established under the auspices of the Game and Fisheries Department in 1926 at Kirkfield, Ontario, for the scientific study of fur farming. In 1936 much of the farm's work was curtailed and discontinued; and the farm ceased to exist in 1940.

HOSPITALS DIVISION

Until 1930 the hospitals and asylums of the Province were under the supervision of the Inspector of Prisons and Public Charities, who was attached to the Provincial Secretary's Department. In that year they were transferred to the Department of Health, where a Hospitals Division was established. Its work was the inspection of public hospitals and the administration of grants to them, the supervision and licensing of private hospitals, and the maintenance of mental hospitals and mental health clinics. That part of the administration which operated the mental hospitals (called Ontario hospitals) and the mental health clinics became known in 1950 as the Division of Mental Health.

The Division of Public and Private Hospitals was formally recognized as a division in 1951 with the appointment of the Chief Inspector of Hospitals as the Director of the Division.

DIVISION OF MATERNAL AND CHILD HYGIENE

A Child Welfare Bureau was organized in 1916. In 1920 the Bureau was re-organized as the Division of Maternal and Child Welfare and Public Health Nursing. In 1925 it was assigned the supervision of the school health services which had been transferred from the Department of Education and which had been initiated in 1919. About the same time the term "welfare" was replaced by "hygiene" in the name and it afterwards appeared in various forms, e.g. Division of Maternal and Child Hygiene, Division of Child Hygiene and Public Health Nursing, etc. In 1944 the public health nursing personnel was organized as a separate division and the earlier division was continued as the Division of Maternal and Child Hygiene.

DIVISION OF NURSES' REGISTRATION

After the passing of the Registration of nurses act in 1922 a branch to administer the act was organized in the Provincial Secretary's Department. In 1924 it was transferred to the Department of Health, where it became the Division of Nurse Registration (later the Division of Nurses' Registration). It supervised training schools, and conducted examinations for provincial registration of nurses. The Nurses act, passed in 1947, provided for the establishment of training courses for nursing assistants and for their registration. After the enactment of the Nursing act, 1951, the Division became the Nursing Branch, with supervision over schools of nursing, and over the training and registration of certified nursing assistants. The registration of nurses was made the responsibility of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario under the Nurses' registration act of 1951.

DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS

The Good Roads Association of the Province of Ontario (later known as the Ontario Good Roads Association) was organized in 1894 and was instrumental in having a Provincial Instructor in Road-Making appointed in 1896 in the Department of Agriculture to advise local municipalities on road improvement. In 1900, this official became known as the Commissioner of Highways and his office was transferred to the Department of Public Works, where it later became known as the Highways Branch. In 1901, an Act for the improvement of public highways (1 Edw. VII, chap. 32) was passed, making Provincial funds available to the counties for road improvement.

In 1913, a Commission was appointed to make an investigation into all matters relating to the construction and maintenance of public roads and highways. As a result of its recommendations the Department of Public Highways was established in 1915 under the Minister of Public Works and Highways (5 Geo. V, chap. 17). In 1917, the Provincial highway act (7 Geo. V, chap. 16) was passed, giving the Department authority to take over, maintain and construct leading roads throughout the Province as Provincial highways. These roads were designated King's highways in 1930.

By Order-in-Council of September 17th, 1914, the Toronto and Hamilton Highway Commission was created, with authority to construct and maintain a highway between Toronto and Hamilton. This highway was completed in 1917 and in 1925 was made part of the Provincial system.

In 1931, the Department became known as the Department of Highways, with its own Minister (21 Geo. V, chap. 11). On April 1, 1937, it absorbed the Department of Northern Development. The highway work of the Province was thus brought under one administration.

APPRENTICESHIP BRANCH

Under the Apprenticeship act, passed in 1928, the Provincial Apprenticeship Committee was appointed as an advisory body to the Minister of Labour, and the Apprenticeship Branch was formed, with the Inspector of Apprenticeship in charge. In 1932 the Committee was replaced by the Apprenticeship Board, which was assigned administrative responsibilities under the immediate direction of the Minister of Labour. Since 1937 the administration of the Apprenticeship act has been carried on by the Apprenticeship Branch under the direction of the Industry and Labour Board, the Apprenticeship Board being discontinued.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS OF OPERATING ENGINEERS

In 1906 an act was passed providing for the appointment of the Board of Examiners of Stationary Engineers under the direction of the Minister of Agriculture. From 1909 to 1916 a report on the activities of the Board was made by the Stationary Engineers' Branch of the Department of Agriculture and included in the Report of the Minister of Agriculture. In 1916 the Board was transferred to the Trades and Labour Branch of the Department of Public Works and was named the Board of Stationary and Hoisting Engineers. In 1919 when the Trades and Labour Branch became the Department of Labour, the Board came under the direction of the new Department. In 1928 the Board became known as the Board of Examiners of Stationary and Hoisting Engineers and since 1932 as the Board of Examiners of Operating Engineers.

FACTORY INSPECTION BRANCH

The first Ontario factories act was passed in 1884. Inspectors were to be appointed to enforce its provisions. The inspectors made their first report (for the year 1888) to the Commissioner of Public Works, and later reports (until 1915) to the Minister of Agriculture. They were organized as the Factory Inspection Branch in 1913. In 1915 this branch was placed under the Department of Public Works and in 1916 under the Trades and Labour Branch of the Department of Public Works. In 1919 it became the Factory Inspection Branch of the Department of Labour.

DEPARTMENT OF LANDS AND FORESTS

The administration of the management and sale of the public lands and forests of the Province was carried on by the Department of Crown Lands, presided over by a Commissioner. By an act passed in 1905 (5 Edw. VII, chap. 5), the Commissioner of Crown Lands became the Minister of Lands and Mines; and the Department then became known as the Department of Lands and Mines. The name of the Department was changed in 1906 to Department of Lands, Forests and Mines. In 1920 the Bureau of Mines, which had been established in the Department in 1891, was made a separate department, and the earlier department assumed the name of Department of Lands and Forests. It is responsible for administering legislation relating to the control and development of the Crown lands, the forest resources, and the fish and wild life resources of the Province.

Detailed historical information on the organization of the Department is to be found in Author entries for provincial government publications, an appendix to Canadiana, March 1962, published by the National Library of Canada.

BUREAU OF FORESTRY

A Clerk of Forestry was first appointed in 1883 in the Department of Agriculture, his duties being purely educational. In 1895 the office was transferred to the Department of Crown Lands and organized as a Bureau of Forestry. In 1899 the work of colonization was added to the Bureau, and in 1905 the Bureau was transferred to the Department of Agriculture. By 1907 its activities were restricted to colonization alone and forestry was abandoned. In 1912 a Forestry Branch was re-established in the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines.

FORESTRY BRANCH

The Forestry Branch was established in 1912; it carried on the work of forest protection, reforestation, and forest pathology. As part of the forest protection organization the Provincial Air Service was formed in 1924. In 1926 the Branch was put in charge of a Deputy Minister of Forestry, and in 1941 its work was divided among three divisions: the Division of Forest Protection, the Division of Air Services, and the Division of Reforestation. The Aerial Surveys Section was transferred to the Division of Surveys.

DIVISION OF LAND AND RECREATIONAL AREAS

The disposal of public lands in subdivided areas, by sales, lease, or grant, was dealt with by the Lands Branch; in unsubdivided areas, land transactions were handled by the Surveys Branch. The Lands Branch also administered provincial parks, and in 1941 it was designated the Division of Land and Recreational Areas. In 1942 it took over all land transactions, with a few exceptions such as rentals of water power, and including those in unsubdivided areas. In 1954 it was divided into the Division of Lands and the Division of Parks.

DIVISION OF RESEARCH

The Division of Research was created in 1941 to carry on research in forestry problems. It began its work with forest management and forest protection studies. A separate Forestry Research Section was formed in 1944. In the same year, the Southern Research Station was established near Maple, Ontario. The Division's activities were extended in 1946 to include research in the areas of fisheries and wildlife when the Department absorbed the Game and Fisheries Department.

DIVISION OF SURVEYS AND ENGINEERING

The Surveys Branch was in charge of a Director of Surveys until 1928. In that year it was put under the control of a Surveyor-General, who was given the status of Deputy Minister. In the 1941 reorganization of the Department, the Branch became the Division of Surveys, charged with ground and aerial surveys of timber, land and water resources. It took over the Aerial Surveys Section, which had been part of the Forestry Branch. In 1944 an Engineering Section was formed to deal with the leasing of water power on Crown lands and to approve plans for the construction of dams. The Division then became known as the Division of Surveys and Engineering.

DIVISION OF TIMBER MANAGEMENT

The management and sale of timber on Crown lands was in charge of the Woods and Forests Branch from pre-Confederation days. In the years 1921/22 to 1924/25 the business of the Branch was transferred to the Forestry Branch. In 1941 the Woods and Forests Branch became the Division of Timber Management.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES

Following the report and recommendations of the Royal Commission investigating the mineral resources of Ontario, a Bureau of Mines was established in 1891 (54 Vict., chap. 8) "to aid in promoting the mining interests of the Province." The Bureau was placed in charge of a Director, who was under the supervision of the Commissioner of Crown Lands.

In 1906, by the Mines act (6 Edw. VII, chap. 11), the Bureau was continued as an integral part of the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines, and its head was termed a Deputy Minister.

In 1920 the Bureau of Mines became the Department of Mines (10-11 Geo. V, chap. 12), under the authority of the Minister of Mines.

Serials:

DEPARTMENT OF MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

The Bureau of Municipal Affairs was established in 1917 (7 Geo. V, chap. 14) and was put under the authority of the Provincial Secretary. In 1919 the administration of the Ontario housing act was placed under the direction of the Bureau and a Housing Branch was organized; this branch ceased its activities in 1928. In 1932 matters under the jurisdiction of the Bureau were transferred to the Ontario Municipal Board (22 Geo. V, chap. 27). In 1935 the Department of Municipal Affairs was established to "exercise general oversight over municipal institutions and their administration" (25 Geo. V, chap. 16) and was assigned the functions of the Bureau of Municipal Affairs.

DEPARTMENT OF NORTHERN DEVELOPMENT

The Northern Development Branch, under a Commissioner, was established in 1912 in the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines to administer the Northern and North-Western Ontario development acts of 1912 and 1915.

By the Northern development act, 1926, the branch became the Department of Northern Development and was put under the direction of a Minister. It was charged with the administration of this act and of the Returned soldiers' and sailors' land settlement acts and the Colonization roads act.

From 1926 to 1935 the Department made its annual report to the Minister of Lands and Forests; for 1936 to the Minister of Public Works and Highways; and for 1937 to the Minister of Highways.

On April 1, 1937, the Department of Northern Development was merged into the Department of Highways.

INSPECTOR OF PRISONS AND PUBLIC CHARITIES

Until 1930, supervision of prisons, hospitals, asylums and other charitable and penal institutions was under the Inspector of Prisons and Public Charities. In September of that year, charitable institutions (houses of refuge, orphanages, etc.) were placed under the new Department of Public Welfare. On October 1, 1930, hospitals, sanatoria, and mental hospitals were transferred to the Department of Health, where a Hospitals Division was formed. After 1930, therefore, only penal institutions remained under the Inspector of Prisons and Public Charities. During the year 1933/34 the office of the Inspector became the Reformatories and Prisons Branch, under the direction of the Deputy Provincial Secretary. In 1946 the Department of Reform Institutions was established to administer prisons, reformatories, etc.

COLONIZATION ROADS BRANCH

The Colonization Roads Branch supervised the construction and repair of roads in unorganized and sparsely settled parts of the Province. The Branch was transferred from the Department of Crown Lands to the Department of Public Works in 1900. In 1907 the first Colonization roads act was passed, setting forth the policy of Provincial aid for the construction of colonization roads.

By Order-in-Council of March 1, 1919, the Branch was transferred to the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines. This transfer was confirmed by the Colonization roads act of 1920. In 1926 colonization roads were assigned to the newly-formed Department of Northern Development. After the merger of this department with the Department of Highways in 1937, the Colonization Roads Branch ceased to exist as a separate branch. The Colonization roads act was repealed in 1947.

THEATRES BRANCH

The Theatres and cinematographs act of 1911 gave the Ontario Government authority to make regulations "governing the erection, operation and safety of theatres, including inspection and supervision" and to license and supervise the showing of motion pictures. Under this act the Board of Censors of Motion Pictures was appointed in 1911 with power to permit or prohibit the exhibition of all films in Ontario. An amendment to the act in 1913 provided for the appointment of an inspector to carry out the duties of the inspection of theatres and their equipment. In 1938 the Board of Censors and the inspection branch were amalgamated as the Motion Picture Censorship and Theatre Inspection Branch. In 1954 the name Theatres Branch was adopted.

AGENT-GENERAL IN THE UNITED KINGDOM

The first official Ontario Government Office in London was established in 1908. The work of this London Office was placed under the administration of the Colonization and Immigration Branch. This Branch was administered by the Department of Agriculture until 1916, by the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines, 1916–1920, and again by the Department of Agriculture, 1920–1934. In 1931 the London Office ceased to be under the direction of the Colonization and Immigration Branch, and it was closed in September 1934. It reopened under the name of Ontario House in 1944, and was under the direction of the Prime Minister, 1944–1946, the Provincial Secretary, 1946–1949, and after 1949 the Department of Planning and Development.

ATHLETICS COMMISSIONER

In 1920 the Ontario Athletic Commission was established "to assist, promote and encourage amateur sport and recreation in schools, community centres and through associations of amateur sportsmen" (10-11 Geo. V, chap. 30). It also supervised boxing and wrestling contests or exhibitions in Ontario. It came under the direction of the Minister of Health, 1935-1946; the Provincial Treasurer, 1947-1949; the Minister of Education, 1950-1951; and the Minister of Labour since 1951. CHIEF ELECTION OFFICER

Election returns were at first prepared by the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery. By an act passed in 1920, provision was made for the appointment by the Executive Council of a Chief Election Officer to have supervision over elections. Under the Election act, 1951, the office of the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery was abolished and returns henceforth were prepared by the Chief Election Officer.

BOARD OF LICENSE COMMISSIONERS FOR ONTARIO

The Board of License Commissioners for Ontario was established in 1915 to administer the Liquor license act. It superseded local boards of license commissioners as a central authority for the control of the issuing of tavern, shop and other licences for the sale of liquor. In 1916 the Liquor license act was repealed by the Ontario temperance act, which curtailed the sale of liquor in Ontario by retail sale and which was known as the Prohibition statute. The Board was continued under the new act.

In 1927 the Ontario temperance act was repealed by the Liquor control act, under which the Liquor Control Board was established to regulate the distribution and sale of liquor.

NIAGARA PARKS COMMISSION

In 1885 an Act for the preservation of the natural scenery about Niagara Falls was passed (48 Vict., chap. 21). This act authorized the appointment of a board of commissioners under the name of the Commissioners for Niagara Falls Park. The Commissioners proceeded to acquire park lands and in 1887 an Act respecting the Niagara Falls Park became law (50 Vict., chap. 13), whereby the park became known as the Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park and the board of commissioners as the Commissioners for the Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park. The Commissioners continued to extend their park lands and in 1927 their name was changed to Niagara Parks Commission (17 Geo. V, chap. 24)

ONTARIO SECURITIES COMMISSION

The first organization to regulate trading in securities was established in the Department of the Attorney General in 1928. It administered the Securities fraud prevention act. An amendment to this act, made in 1931, provided that it should be administered by a board or commission, appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, and the Security Frauds Prevention Board was established. In 1932 the name of the act was changed to the Securities act and the Board became the Ontario Securities Commission. The Commission is responsible for the registration of all brokers and salesmen of securities operating within the Province and for the investigation of offences involving the sale of securities.
